

Another Sales Tax Scrap On

Representative Will Re-offer This Method Of Raising Revenue

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Another scrap over a national retail sales tax—this time possibly more legislators on the "pro" side—was assured today when Rep. Robertson (D-Va.) announced he would re-offer this method of raising revenue to help sweeten the new $16,000,000,000 tax kitty proposed by President Roosevelt.

A member of the tax-framing house ways and means committee which will start consideration of pay-as-you-go and other tax legislation within the next ten days or two weeks, Robertson said he believed the income tax had reached the saturation point.

"If we are to raise another $16,000,000,000," he told reporters, "I don't see how we can do it without a sales tax. Income taxes have reached the limit of ability to pay for a great number of people. I don't see how we can go any further on this."

Robertson was unsuccessful in an effort last year to get the ways and means group to consider a sales tax. The vote then was 13 to 8. Since then the committee has undergone some change, with six new Democratic members being added to fill vacancies.

Sales Tax Principle
As last year, Robertson said he would propose only that the sales tax principle be considered, with the committee fixing the rates once it has agreed to the principle.

Advocates have estimated roughly that a 5 per cent levy, with government and state purchases exempt, would raise $2,500,000,000.

Both houses of congress were in recess today but a senate subcommittee called James C. Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians, for further questioning on his ban against making recorded music for commercial use. Petrillo told the committee yesterday that he would withdraw the ban only "at the request of President Roosevelt," unless the broadcasting and recording interests offered "a proposition that will assure more work for live musicians."

Question Ickes
In another committee room, Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes was slated to be questioned about a shortage of steel, copper, aluminum, and other metals. Senator Murray (D-Mont.), declaring it was well known that the war production program "has permitted an over-expansion of factories that cannot be fully utilized because of the shortage of raw materials." Duke's Friend Under Arrest

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull disclosed today that Charles Bedaux, American industrial engineer known as the author of an "efficiency system" for industrial labor, had been arrested in North Africa on a charge of trading with the enemy.

In answer to press conference questions, Hull said news of Bedaux's arrest had come to him but he was not informed of the details.

Bedaux came into news prominence in 1937 when it was disclosed he was arranging the details of an American tour the Duke of Windsor was planning to make. Windsor subsequently dropped the idea of the visit.

Leaders of organized labor were especially critical of Bedaux, whose system is termed the "stretch-out" in union circles. Francis J. Gorman, president of the United Textile Workers, called Bedaux "that arch-enemy of labor."

In calling off the visit, the Duke said there had been "grave misconceptions" of his motives. Windsor married his American wife, the former Wallis Warfield, in Bedaux's French home.

Harris Shakes Angry Finger At Senators

Tells Members They Must Give And Take

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 13.—(P)—Shaking an angry finger at the members, Lieut. Gov. Frank G. Harris scolded the state senate for political bickering today and withheld his own vote which would have broken a two-party tie over committee control.

"The people of the state are not in any humor for a scrap in the senate over its organization or its committees," Harris snapped after the chamber divided 17 Democrats to 17 Republicans, on a resolution which would have made all committees exactly bipartisan.

"You have no right to place this burden upon the president (Harris) who is not a member of this body," he continued. "This is your problem. You must solve it. This matter shall be held in abeyance. You're going to have an opportunity to get together."

"And I say: You'd better do it," Harris' vote would decide. The Republican-backed resolution would have given each party equal representation on all committees. The Democrats organized the senate before the Republicans' 17th senator—Sen. Roy Miller of Columbia—took office with his tying vote. Harris, a Democrat, could vote to break organization ties.

Action on the resolution split right along party lines today. By a vote of 17 to 17 the Senate failed in a Democratic attempt to send the resolution to the rules committee, dominated by Democrats. Then it was called up for adoption and again the chamber split 17 to 17.

Sen. George Miller of Sedalia, the Republican floor leader, called upon Harris "to cast your vote for what you think is for the interest of good government. By your vote you will tell the people that you are a man who places citizenship above partisanship."

Must Give And Take
Harris apparently caught Republicans and Democrats alike by surprise with his sharp statement. "You can't pass a bill unless somebody gives and somebody takes," he declared, shaking his finger at the senators. "I'm speaking to you Missouri senators. Unless you can get together now, how do you expect to accomplish anything? You haven't made sufficient effort to get together." (Please turn to page 4 column 3)

USO Sponsored Club To Meet

There will be a meeting of the Army-Navy Wives Club at Parish hall, Broadway and Ohio, at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night, with the president, Mrs. Stein Fennell, presiding.

This club, a new one recently organized, is for the wives of all men in the armed service, who now, with their husbands in camps, or in combat service, have many interests in common.

At the meeting Thursday night there will be distributed interest finders, or questionnaires, asking the women the type of recreation, civic service, or other interests they prefer. In this way those who like bridge will have an opportunity to meet and play with others who like that diversion, and those with other common interests can get together.

This club is for all service men's wives. It is impossible for the leaders to extend a personal invitation to those eligible to join, but it is hoped they will attend the meeting Thursday night and affiliate themselves with the organization, which is sponsored by the USO.

Officers Of Browns Here

Baseball Scouts Look Over Park And Coliseum

Luke Sewell, playing manager of the St. Louis Browns, William "Bill" DeWitt, general manager, and Anthony Buford, a member of the board of directors, were in Sedalia this afternoon making a survey of facilities in this city that could be used for spring training of their ball club. A hurried inspection of the State Fair grounds and Liberty park by the men brought favorable comment, but no definite comment as to whether they would choose this city for their "close-to-home training camp."

Manager Sewell expressed surprise over Sedalia's baseball diamond and grounds in Liberty park. "There are a lot of places we have looked over, but none have a ball park to compare with this. With a few slight changes in the diamond, and hot water showers, it would be about just what we want," Sewell said.

Like Coliseum
All three men were surprised at the large area of the coliseum, although it was a little too narrow to arrange a regulation diamond, they felt confident some arrangement could be made so the arena could be used for infield practice. Every opportunity weather permitted the team would practice out doors and would only use the coliseum under bad weather conditions.

Suggestions regarding the dressing rooms and showers at the Liberty Park stadium were made, and Joe Reid, a member of the Sedalia Park Board and Charles Van Dyne, president of the Chamber of Commerce, stated those changes could possibly be made with little trouble.

The three Brown representatives were shown over Sedalia by Ernest Baker, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, Mr. Van Dyne, Mr. Reid, Ken Carstens, manager of the Public Loan Co., a personal friend of Donald Barnes, president of the Browns, R. F. "Dick" Rohn, former baseball player, and a newspaper representative.

Contract On USO To Dan Dean

The contract for the remodeling of the Guerrant building, on the northeast corner of Fifth street and Osage avenue, for a USO center, was awarded Monday to Dan Dean, Sedalia contractor, according to announcement by C. Bates Manning, USO area engineer, of Kansas City. Mark Shark, of Kansas City, will be architect in charge.

The contract was let for approximately $5,000 for the remodeling, not including the heating, and the contract for this will be let the latter part of the week. The furnishings for the building will be shipped into the city, because it is the policy of the USO to buy in large quantities for all USO centers in the country. The organization also has interior decorators who plan the interior decorating and the furniture that is suitable to the building and plan of the rooms. In some places there are some purchases made locally.

The total cost for remodeling the building and furnishings will be $10,352, paid by the national United Service Organization.

State Budget Director Is Resigning

First Appointee Of Governor Has Many Clashes

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 13.—(P)—Budget Director Margaret M. Cobb resigned today with expressed regret over the failure of the Donnell administration to set up "a policy of economy which in my opinion must be established upon a basis of efficiency."

The sharp-spoken budget chief—storm center of frequent clashes with Gov. Forrest C. Donnell's department heads over state financing—sent her resignation to Donnell to take effect at the end of the month.

Last year she attempted to quit but Donnell would not accept her resignation. Today's resignation came in the midst of preparations for the new state budget, now top-heavily out of balance despite Miss Cobb's recent insistence that department grants could be cut within revenues without impairing the government.

"When I assumed the duties of assistant budget director," she told Donnell, "I had visions of constructive accomplishments along the line of correcting evils and establishing a policy of economy which in my opinion must be established upon a basis of efficiency. I have earnestly endeavored to further this ambition over a period of two years."

Politics Control

"Much to my regret I find that political control of state government is seemingly so firmly established that to expect one person in a minor position to accomplish anything constructive is a vain hope."

She said she would become a private tax analyst and research (Please Turn to Page 4, Col. 5)

The number of local board decisions reversed has also increased, he reported, to nearly half the cases heard.

"Many of the cases reversed would never have come before the appeal board if the local board had been thinking straight," he added.

Wear, also of Springfield, received 2247 votes in the county. The election was a special one to select a congressman to fill the unexpired term of young Bennett's father, the late Phil A. Bennett, who had been elected for a second term, and died shortly before his first term was completed.

The total vote in the county was 6005, less than the total vote in the general election last November when Phil A. Bennett defeated the same opponent, Wear, by 5832 to 4730.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 13.—(P)—A Bennett will continue to represent Missouri's sixth congressional district in Washington for the next two years—this time the 28-year-old Republican son of the late Rep. Phil A. Bennett.

Complete unofficial returns from 302 of the 351 precincts in this 11-county district showed 34,145 votes for young Marion T. Bennett to 20,174 for Democrat Sam Wear, Springfield lawyer. The elder Bennett was re-elected.

Charges Of Burglary And Larceny Filed

George Evert Colein and Elbert Clark, arrested early Tuesday morning after they had been found in possession of several valuable furs belonging to the Mindell Hides, Wool and Fur company, this afternoon were held under charges of burglary and larceny, and each also charged with the stealing of three mink furs.

The three mink furs had been missing and were found sold to a dealer in Sedalia for $10.

All cases are to be heard in the court of Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace. The men are held in the county jail.

To Congress

Marion T. Bennett, Republican, won over Sam M. Wear, Democrat, in the special election Tuesday for the seat in Congress from the Sixth Missouri district, vacated by the death of Bennett's father, Phil A. Bennett. Both the candidates live in Springfield. Wear was defeated by Bennett's father in the regular election last November.

Germans Try Desperately To Save Forces

Russians Maintain Pressure Along 100-Mile Front

By Henry C. Cassidy

MOSCOW, Jan. 13.—(P)—The Germans threw tanks and warplanes into a stiffening stand in the Caucasus today in a desperate attempt to cover their forces holding the Maikop oilfields and the Black sea coast farther west, but the Russians reported further gains and more villages recaptured.

Red Star, mouthpiece of the Russian army, said the battle was becoming more violent, particularly along the rail line toward Rostov from recaptured Mineralnye Vody.

Battlefront dispatches said the Russians were maintaining their pressure along a 100-mile front from deep in the Caucasus to the lower Kalmyk steppe, while other forces just to the north bore down on Salsk, another milestone on the road to Rostov.

Strong German counterattacks were reported on the lower Don front as well as in the Caucasus. Izvestia, the government newspaper said one such attack in the lower Don threatened an important Russian line of communications but was repelled by Red army reserves moved up nearly 40 miles overnight. The Germans were forced to retreat, Izvestia reported.

Wind Hammers

The Don offensive was hampered by the cold wind which howled across the snow-piled steppes. The progress here was slow.

Band Will See Draftees Off

The largest single group of men going into the service from Pettis county since the 123rd Field Artillery left in December of 1940, will be the eighty-two who depart at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Missouri Pacific depot.

As a majority of the boys are former students of Smith-Cotton high school and many were graduated only last spring, the Smith-Cotton Tiger band will go to the bus depot and serenade them.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon thirty-five Pettis county young men left for Fort Leavenworth, Kas., where they will receive their assignment to basic training. These men, as those who leave Thursday, have passed their physical examinations and were inducted into the army last week.

Both groups returned home for a seven day furlough before being assigned. During their furlough the boys have been classified by the army and will be ready to be assigned to either infantry, artillery, signal corps, or other branches of the service where they will be the best suited.

On January 16 fifteen Negroes will leave Sedalia for Fort Leavenworth to undergo a physical examination prior to induction. These are the last groups to leave Sedalia this month.

Pluck, Not Beginners Luck

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 12.—(Delayed)—(P)—There's beginner's luck in airplane warfare, too.

Lieut. Robert White of Kansas City shot down the first and second Zeros he ever saw. On the same mission Lieut. Ernest Harris of Morristown, Tenn., knocked out three Zeros in his first combat with Japanese planes.

"Beginner's luck" commented both White and Harris, but their teammates said it was pluck, not luck.

The two warhawk pilots were part of a formation of P-20s in a strafing attack on the Japanese convoy in Lea harbor January 7. (Eight ships of this convoy were destroyed or damaged in four days of incessant attack by relays of allied aircraft. In addition 138 Jap planes were shot down or crippled.)

"Eighteen to 25 Zeros attacked us, and altogether we got 13 of them," Harris said. "We lost only one plane, and its pilot parachuted out."

"I got my three without much trouble, one after another. There really wasn't much to it."

Successful Raid On Airfield Ten Miles South Of Tripoli

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 13.—(AP)—United States war planes destroyed 34 Nazi aircraft in the air and on the ground in a raid yesterday on Castel Benito airfield, 10 miles south of Tripoli, it was announced today.

B-17 Flying Fortresses which led the attack into Tripolitania from the west knocked out 20 planes on the ground and downed 14 more during a blazing 75-mile running battle high in the air, a spokesman said.

It was the heaviest blow yet struck by allied forces from the west against Marshal Rommel's defenders of Tripolitania.

An allied headquarters communique which announced the raid identified the 14 planes shot down as Messerschmitt 109's.

(This was the deepest reported penetration into Libya by Fortresses based in the west. Other American bombers, B-26 Martin Marauders, made an attack last Saturday against an airdrome 10 miles from Tripoli, possibly the same field.)

Apparently instructed to stop the Fortresses at any cost, the Germans avoided the escort of P-38 Lockheed Lightnings and raced into the concentrated fire of the big four-engine bombers. Despite the enemy efforts, all of the American planes returned to their base although one plane came home on only two motors two hours after the others.

Air Activity Dominates
Air activity dominated day and night warfare, as reports from the ground fronts indicated only patrolling in the Bou Arada and Goubella areas of northern Tunisia.

The RAF's Bisleys attacked the Nazi supply line along the Tunisian east coast near the Port of Sousse, ranging over the highways by moonlight and blasting trucks and transports with bombs and machinegun fire.

The allied strategy of striking Marshal Rommel from both sides was operating like clockwork.

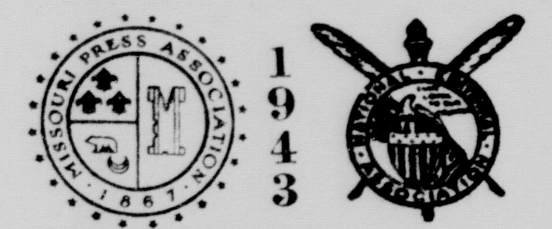

From the east the RAF and the American air force with the British Eighth Army pounded Rommel's transport and supply lines leading through Tripoli to Tunisia.

(A Cairo communique said today that Tripoli and Homs, 65 miles farther east

The Daily
Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
(Major Robert S. Allen on active duty)

WASHINGTON — Some of the most significant political maneuvering ever seen by seasoned diplomats is going on backstage regarding the filming of Ernest Hemingway's famous book "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

Strenuous objections have been voiced to Paramount by the Franco Fascist government through its Ambassador Don Juan Francisco de Cardenas, and it now seems probable that the film will never reach the American public.

The book is the story of the civil war in Spain, the struggle between the Loyalist government and the Fascist revolutionaries supported by Hitler and Mussolini, which many people believe was the prelude to the current war. However, Sam Wood, the producer for Paramount, has left out all politics.

"Gone With the Wind" was a hot love story," says Wood who worked on that film, "and 'For Whom the Bell Tolls' is an even hotter love story."

But even though the Paramount version emphasizes love and leaves out politics, Gen Franco doesn't like it. Paramount has already invested more than $2,000,000 in it. Gary Cooper is playing the star role. But Gen. Franco says NO.

Inside reason why he says NO is briefly this: Showing of the film will promote the sale of Hemingway's book. And though the film shuns politics, the book decidedly doesn't. So Franco envisages sale of the book all over the world.

Nobody ever dreamed that Franco's hand was that strong inside the U.S.A. But the State Department is for him; also the Rockefeller committee is not enthusiastic about the picture's release. But most important of all, the Vatican's disapproval is the real reason why "For Whom the Bell Tolls" will probably not be shown.

Hitler's Stooges

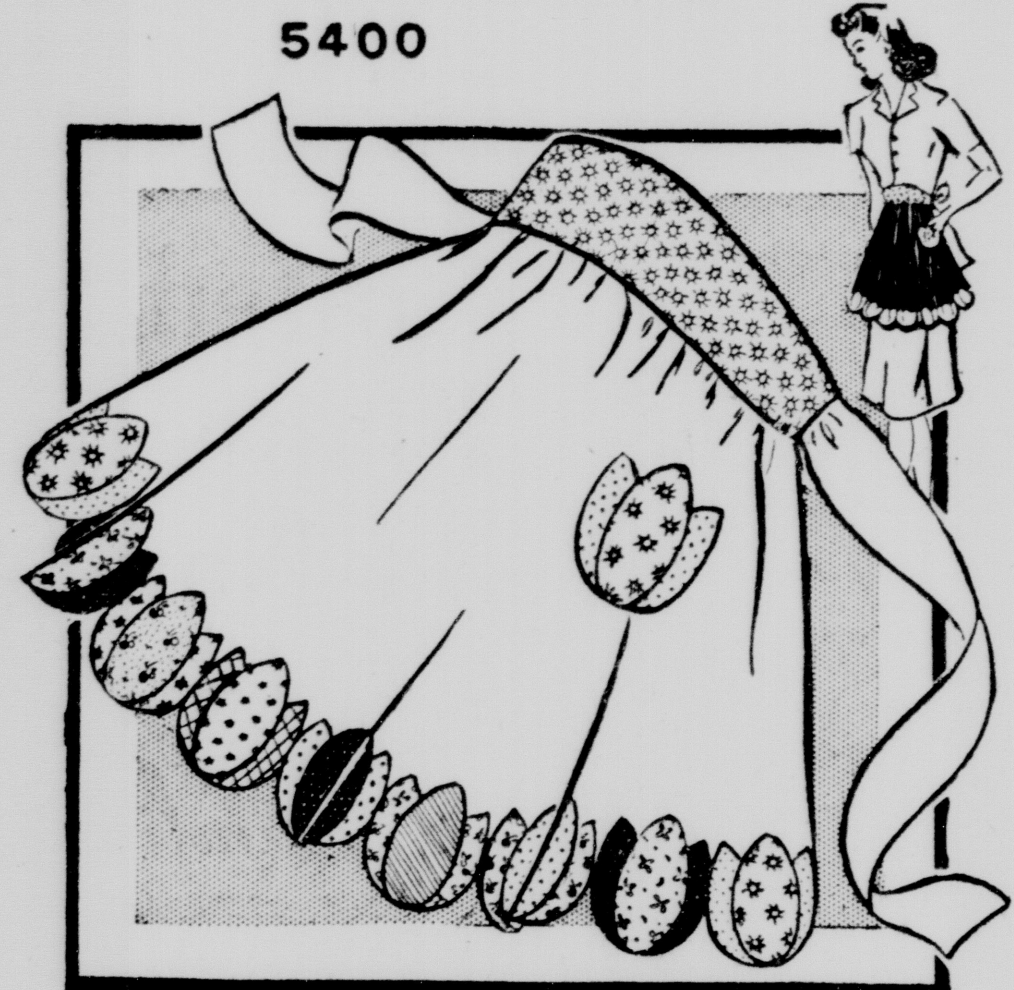

They aren't advertising it, but there is one excellent reason why isolationist Senator Wheeler of Montana and Nye of North Dakota are working so feverishly for an investigation of the Justice Department and its prosecution of Hitler stooges in the U.S.A. That reason is that they know some of the dynamite-laden evidence now before the Justice Department which is sure to come out when these cases go to trial. That evidence shows the two senators as having been used by the Nazi sympathizers and alleged seditionists.

Probably the two senators did not know they were being used. Wheeler, at the time, told friends he was worried over definite Nazi influences inside the America First Committee and that he had worked inside it to keep those influences down.

However, the fact remains that Frank K. Ferenz, one of those indicted for sedition, organized the America First rally for Wheeler when he arrived in Los Angeles, and was one of Wheeler's active supporters. Ferenz, according to evidence before the Justice Department, had a sister in Germany who wrote him advice regarding a job for der Fuehrer.

Senator Nye, in turn, has lent his frank to the Steuben Society, for which the Steuben Society was fined by the Post Office Department. He has also been aiding behind-the-scenes in aiding the appeal of George Sylvester Viereck, already convicted for failure to register as a foreign agent and now indicted for sedition.

Furthermore, recent evidence

Or make a brand new apron of pink blue, yellow, or green cotton — applique' the cheerful tulips and you'll have an apron that costs almost nothing and is as gay looking as an April garden. before the Justice Department from an American long resident in Berlin quotes high-ranking Nazis as saying that if war came, they had the U.S.A. organized and that Wheeler was their favorite senator. While nobody who knows Senator Wheeler believes for a minute that he was a party to this, many do feel that he was unwittingly used by Nazi propagandists.

At any rate all of these facts and more are expected to come out when the sedition-propaganda cases go to trial. Obviously, therefore, it is good strategy on the part of the two senators involved to attack the Justice Department in advance. Then when the evidence is brought out, they can charge persecution and a smear campaign.

U. S. Troops Guard Congress
News photographers were herding the 75 rookie congressmen up the stone steps of the Capitol for a group picture when they got an unexpected taste of military discipline. A soldier suddenly stepped in front of them.

"I'm sorry, but you can't go up there," he announced.
"We're members of Congress," spoke up several freshmen.
"I don't care who you are," replied the soldier, fixing his bayonet. "You can't go up these steps. Those are my orders."

And that was that until someone located a lieutenant, who rescheduled the order and permitted the group picture to be made on the steps.

NOTE: Nobody knows why U. S. troops are used to guard Congress—considered the worst waste of manpower in Washington. Certainly nobody wants to steal Congress—or at least nobody except FDR.

Joe Martin vs. Sam Rayburn

Privately Republican leader Joe Martin never had any intention of letting the Republicans organize Congress and elect him as speaker. Until 1944, this responsibility is the last thing he wants.

However, the canny Republican leader took keen delight in keeping the opposition guessing and carried on his little joke until the very last.

When he marched into Speaker Rayburn's office with the committee that was to escort Rayburn to the floor, following his reelection, Martin was grinning from ear to ear.

"Sam," he said, "I've got some bad news for you. I hope you can hold up under the shock. You've been re-elected speaker."

Nazi Threat To Grozny And Baku Oil Fields Ended

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Whatever the theory of Nazi strategic design that shaped the 1942 drives to the Don and Volga and deep into the Caucasus, the two-month-old Russian offensive has already gone far toward its frustration.

Hitler has it to do all over again—whether his principal purposes was to reach to reach Russian oil sources in the Caucasus, to sever Russian communications via the Volga at Stalingrad, or to outflank Moscow from the south by a later sweep up the Volga.

The accelerating axis retreat from the Caucasus salient has definitely ended the German threat to the Grozny and Baku fields, perhaps forever. Remnants of Axis armies trapped in the Stalingrad pocket represent no menace now to the Volga transportation artery. Collapse of the Nazi Don front south of the Voronezh salient seems no less to have freed Moscow of any present or early future danger of envelopment from the south.

Concern On Final Stand
What must now concern Moscow

Home Was Never Like This

LEAVEN WORTH, Kas. —Capt. Mary S. Bell of the WAACs, ready to return to Omaha, heard an army officer's suggestion that she fly.

"In an army plane? How much would it cost?"
Officers, she was informed, don't have to pay.
"Goodie, goodie! This isn't the way it was when I was dean of women at Coe college in Cedar Rapids, Ia."

and allied leadership is not what Hitler hoped to achieve by his 1942 advances; but where he intends to make his final stand for defense of that pivot of his extended and endangered southern flank in Russia. That must depend upon the forces still available to him under two-front war conditions, even more than upon any geographical circumstance. And perhaps the most significant aspect of current Russian reports of new advances in the Caucasus, to threaten the Armavir-Maikop branch of the Rostov-Baku railway and also reach the headwaters of the Kuban river, is the intimation that the foe may be preparing to fall back behind the Kuban, surrendering even the Maikop oil field he paid heavily to gain last summer.

The Kuban rises north of the Caucasus range and penetrates its foothills to flow westward into the Black sea south of Kerch strait. It offers a highly defensive position for the invaders on the south sector of the dwindling Rostov battle front. Russian failure to hold it last year led to the deep Nazi penetration to the Grozny region, now rolled back northward 100 miles or more.

While Nazi defense of the Kuban, linked with a stand west of the Manych below its confluence with the Don, seems a logical deployment to guard both the Rostov and Kerch strait communication lines, it would mean surrender of the Maikop field and a retirement as well northward on the Black sea from the Tuapse position. Nothing short of lack of manpower to hold a larger defense perimeter could induce that great a German retreat.

There is another possibility, however. Moscow reports tell of heavy Nazi tank and foot troop reserves being thrown into action below the Don to stall the Russian drive northwestward between the Sal and Manych rivers, increasingly menacing Rostov from that direction. That implies a German stand on the Manych, which linked south and westward with the Kuban, has good defense possibilities.

It could also indicate Nazi massing both above and below the lower Don for a bold frontal attempt to reach and rescue the remnants of the score or so divisions, nearly all of them German troops, in the Stalingrad pocket. It is unbelievable that the Nazi high command has abandoned those troops to their fate.

Five Indicted In Lynching Case

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 13.—(AP)—A federal grand jury late Tuesday returned two indictments charging four private citizens and a deputy sheriff, all of Jones county, Miss., with violation of federal civil rights statutes in the lynching of Howard Wash, Negro, at Laurel, Miss., on the night of Oct. 16, 1942.

The first indictment named Nathaniel Shotts, Allen Pryor, Barney Jones, and William Oscar Johnson. The second indictment named the four and in addition Luther Holder, deputy sheriff and Jones county jailer.

Frank Coleman, Roanoke, Va., special assistant to the U. S. attorney general, announced the indictments and said his department's investigation indicated the four citizens were "ringleaders" of a mob estimated at between 50 and 100.

Time To Save Is Right Now

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's multi-billion dollar war budget was added to the pressure for thrift on the Missouri legislature today.

The Missouri public expenditure survey, a taxpayer organization, told legislators "the time to start saving and economizing is now" as it disputed official estimates of the state's revenue for this year and next.

The survey said Gov. Forrest C. Donnell's estimate of free current revenues of $66,900,000 "was considered too high by competent fiscal and governmental experts at the time it was announced. In the light of President Roosevelt's budget message of yesterday, it appears ridiculously high."

The survey said the President's war program may even force a "downward revision" of its own revenue estimate already $10,000,000 under that of the governor.

British Soon To Make Spurt

Getting Ready To Start Move Toward Tripoli

LONDON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The British eighth army was reported about ready for a fresh spurt toward Tripoli Tuesday night and its Anglo-American and French allies in Tunisia, Fighting French in the Fezzan wastes of Lower Libya and their air forces dealt many and varied blows at the axis in the Mediterranean theater.

The Morocco radio said strong reinforcements, including tank forces, had arrived in the last few hours to strengthen the forward elements of the eighth army before Wadi Zamzem, 160 airline miles southeast of Tripoli.

This possible indication that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces were getting ready to resume their advance after a lull supplemented Berlin reports of Saturday night that thousands of allied vehicles had been concentrated to the south of Marshal

Erwin Rommel's positions for an attack.

If an attack was imminent it obviously was in cooperation with the Fighting French of the mysterious General Jacques Leclerc who were reported within 300 miles of Tripoli after announcing a complete conquest of Italy's Fezzan empire of Salt Marsh, oases and desert in southern Libya.

Among the developments of the day which sharpened the picture in the Mediterranean were these: American Flying Fortresses for the first time thundered into Tripolitania out of the west, and bombed the Italian fort of Gadames, 170 miles southwest of Tripoli near the Libyan-Tunisian-Algerian border.

Axis Under Hammering

Putting the axis under a two-way hammering from American four-motored bombers for the first time in a 24-hour cycle, the Fortresses' Liberators mates from the Cairo force slid over Naples on the Italian mainland by daylight yesterday for their first bombing of that embarkation point and naval base in 1943.

In Tunisia, just to the south of the German perimeter about Tunis and Bizerte, British and French patrols were more active than in days and fought several successful actions, a North African headquarters communique reported.

British infantry and tanks pushed the Germans off a ridge and settled themselves astride the Arterial Goubellat road six miles north of Bou Arada and about 14 miles south of Medjez-El-Bab.

French troops of Gen. Henri Giraud drove the enemy out of a mountain pass farther to the south, at a point 23 miles south of Pont-Du-Fahs. They reported the capture of at least 180 prisoners.

Toolmaking Doubles In Year

Total machine tool production for 1941 reached $775,000,000, and nearly doubled during 1942 to an all-time high of $1,500,000,000, enough to equip the entire automobile industry two and a half times.

All Time High For Marriages

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP)—More than three and a half million men and women in the United States said "I do," and became husband and wives during 1942, setting an all time high for marriages in America, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., reported Tuesday.

They estimated that about 1,800,000 marriages were performed during the year, an increase of 80 per cent over the number for 1932, the low point of the depression.

Largest gains in the number of wedding licenses issued were in the large cities of the far west and the south. In the northeastern area there were fewer marriages in 1942 than in 1941.

San Diego, Calif., had 176 per cent more marriages in 1942 than in 1941, the largest increase in any of the 86 cities of 100,000 or more population surveyed.

Tacoma, Washington, was run-up, with an increase of 106 percent. Marriages in San Francisco increased 76 per cent, and in Los Angeles 35 per cent.

Increased prosperity and concentration of large numbers of military and naval men in the areas affected were given as the probable reasons for much of the increase.

The average growth of human hair is six inches a year.

"THOSE GAS MAINS ARE WAR LINES NOW, SONNY"

This winter if you are asked to curtail gas because it is needed for war production, please remember:

- 1 War plants need tremendous quantities of gas to make precision parts for bombers, fighting planes, tanks, ships and other war goods.
- 2 Under normal conditions, we could obtain steel and other materials to enlarge our gas supply and meet all demands. Today, this cannot be done.
- 3 The use of gas in war plants conserves coke, coal and oil and relieves transportation, thereby enabling railroads to move war goods faster.

Every one of us must help conserve vital fuels needed by war plants. Will you help?

For detailed information on how to save gas and make your appliances last longer, stop in for our booklet, "Keep 'Em Working and Conserve Gas."

Speculation On Donnell's Budget Plan

Large Sums Must Be Trimmed, Or Taxes Raised

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 13.—(P)—Speculation ranged the capitol today that Gov. Forrest C. Donnell was preparing to submit a budget drastically cut to balance with the state's expected revenue.

Such a budget would have to be at least $9,000,000 under the figures the governor spoke of a week ago in his opening message to the legislature.

At that time Donnell told the assembly department requests stood at $82,000,000 after his revisions. He said either $9,000,000 would have to be trimmed by the assembly, or the legislature would have to find $13,000,000 more money, apparently in new taxes.

The governor declined to say yesterday whether he had changed his mind about the original budget. He parried all questions concerning his original $82,000,000 figure.

But the capitol speculated on the likelihood of budget cuts coming from the executive offices because of the heavy pressure for economy which followed his opening day message.

Hamlin Resolution
Rep. Roy Hamlin (D) Marion county, called up in the house today his resolution which would pledge the assembly not to increase taxes. As a substitute Rep. Walter E. Bailey (R) Jasper county, suggested the resolution avoid a specific pledge but call upon state departments to trim their budget requests to within the revenue.

The Bailey substitute would express "the firm desire of this house to avoid new taxes." It would ask departments to cut the appropriation requests at least 15 per cent.

"It is up to these departments to reduce their demands," he said. "They know better where to cut than we do. Of course, if they don't we may have to do it ourselves."

On motion of Rep. Morris Osburn (D) Shelby county, the resolution was laid over without a vote for later consideration.

Whittled Appropriation
The legislature's own will to save money was demonstrated yesterday when the house appropriations committee lopped $100,000 a month off the emergency sixmonths appropriation for direct relief. Because relief rolls dropped 50 per cent in the past two years, the house committee whittled the allotment from $1,500,000 to $900,000—thus making allowance for a 20 per cent living cost rise since the last appropriation.

That was only one demonstration of the demand for retrenchment which followed the governor's message on an out-of-balance budget. Rep. Howard Elliott (R) St. Louis county, the speaker of the house, called for curtailed spending when he appointed the appropriations committee Monday.

Wants Balanced Budget
"It is my earnest hope," he said, "that the house will maintain a balanced budget x x and do that on presently anticipated revenues."

Loud protests greeted the news last week that the governor had under consideration a one-cent boost in the two-cent sales tax as one means of balancing the budget which he must submit in final form by Jan. 21.

The Missouri public expenditure survey said the suggestion came from "gross lack of knowledge" of the state's affairs. It demanded the governor submit a budget in balance.

War Savings Booths Saturday
The Women's Division of the Pettis County War Savings Bond and Stamp committee will have representatives of various organizations in booths down town business establishments on Saturday to sell stamps and bonds to help reach the $80,000 goal set for Pettis county for the month of January.

cause of the lack of sufficient metals and minerals," said he wanted to ask Ickes what obstacles were "blocking the development of our metals and mineral deposits."

Jumping into the revenue-raising discussion, proponents of a government-operated lottery declared they would renew their efforts to pass such legislation. Representative Knutson (R-Minn.) and Representative Sabath (D-Ill.) both offered plans they said would yield the government about a billion dollars a year.

Easier Methods Are First
Members of the ways and means committee expressed belief the Ruml plan and other pay-as-you-go tax collecting proposals designed to make it easier for individuals to pay the ever-mounting taxes to defray war costs would be given first consideration.

Rep. Carlson (R-Kans.) who started a round of discussion on the house floor yesterday when he advocated a plan to shift taxes from past to current income, said later he understood the Treasury was working on a plan of its own as was the joint congressional internal revenue committee.

Meanwhile the senate is expected to decide Friday whether to hold hearings on the nomination of Edward J. Flynn, retiring chairman of the Democratic national committee, to be minister to Australia.

Flynn, at a press conference late yesterday, labeled opposition to his nomination as "purely politics." He expressed a willingness to testify, but said he was leaving Saturday for Chicago where the national committee will name his successor on Monday. Postmaster General Frank C. Walker has told friends he probably will take the party chairmanship, though reluctantly.

Germans Try Desperately To Save Forces

slowly but in parts of the Caucasus, but the Russians were reported pressing ahead at a steady enough pace to prevent the enemy from regrouping shattered divisions.

In the close-quarter fighting in Stalingrad, the Red army made an important gain by thrusting forward from a northern factory district to the western outskirts of the city.

Long range guns on the east bank of the Volga continued to shell German lodgements on the west bank around Stalingrad as the Russians kept up their pressure on the German forces that have been cut off there from retreat to the west.

(The Soviet noon communique said several more populated places fell to the Russian Caucasus army in the night's fighting and added a significant report: That Red army planes had swept far west to Krasnodar in a series of raids on the airfield at that key German stronghold and rail center, 150 miles south of Rostov and only 60 miles east of Novorossisk, on the Black sea.

Ten Planes Destroyed
(Ten German planes were destroyed on the ground, about 30 were damaged and two planes were brought down in an aerial duel, the communique said. It was broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded in London by the Soviet Monitor.

(A German tank advance in the lower Don area was thrown back in vicious fighting and several towns were occupied in one sector, the war bulletin said.

(The Russians also reported that Red army shock troops had broken through to the western outskirts of Stalingrad after bitter fighting in buildings, courtyards and streets. The siege of Stalingrad began 141 days ago.

Held In Trap
(The besiegers themselves are held in a huge trap before Stalingrad by the Russian columns that fanned out in the winter offensive launched Nov. 19.)

The Soviet midnight communique pictured the far-flung central Caucasus advance moving steadily along both sides of the railway that angles from Baky, westward to Rostov, at the mouths of the Don, near where the river splits to flow into the Sea of Azov 25 miles below the city limits.

The recapture of six more points in the Caucasus, including Essentuki, 12 miles west of Pyatigorsk, was announced. Essentuki's fall carried a Russian column to within 38 miles of the headquarters of the Kuban river.

British Columns Unite
(The Moscow correspondent Reuters, British news agency, reported Russian troops which had speared from Stalingrad down past Elista through the Kalmyck steppes had joined hands with columns from the north Caucasus at a point between Urozhainoe and Levokumsky, 25 miles east of Budenovsk, which was listed yesterday as recaptured.)

The Soviet command also said that four more towns were captured by the army that advanced along the railway which travels southwestward from Stalingrad through Kotelnikovskiy, Zimovnik, Salsk, Kuberele and Tikhoretsk to Krasnodar. Kuberele previously had been reported recaptured and the taking of Kharkovsky, Mayorsky and Kurmoyarsky in that region both widened the front of advance guards and protected them while other units mopped up German detachments in the rear.

State Budget Director Is Resigning

expert, a business she followed for years before the Donnell administration.

Miss Cobb—technically titled "assistant budget director" but actually the supervisor of that department—was Donnell's first appointee when he took office. Almost immediately her determined efforts to cut down official spending brought her into conflict with other department heads.

Disagrees With Governor
She fought almost constantly with Ira Jones, head of the eleemosynary department, who last year blames her fiscal policies for the fact that state hospital inmates were forced to go hungry for want of food money. She countered that the blame belonged on the eleemosynary board for mismanagement.

Former State Senator Allen McReynolds of Carthage once termed her "a stern dragon in skirts" who insisted on state departments adhering to her methods. Despite her frequent differences with other department heads, Donnell often expressed complete confidence in her knowledge of the state's finances.

Her most recent disagreement with Donnell came through his failure to cut more than $5,000,000 off budget requests for 1943-44. She argued the requests should be trimmed to within revenue estimates and termed "outrageous" the suggestion that the sales tax be increased to three cents—an idea Donnell then had under consideration.

Small Gains On Stock Market
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Small gains were in the majority in the stock market today, with steels prominent in the upturn.

Volume never got out of a slow jog and the tape filled at times. Total turnover was around 600,000 shares.

A few issues which lagged behind in early trading recovered their equilibrium in the afterpart of the session and scored advances in the final hour. Others which had been ahead most of the day, however, failed to work up a full head of steam.

Tentative spurts were made by golds, selected metals and a handful of utility leaders.

Railroad issues staged a rally in the bond market. Cotton prices were 10 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower in late trades. At Chicago, wheat closed ¼ to ½ cent a bushel lower and corn was off ½ to ¾ cent.

Tilting higher in the curb were Niagara Hudson and Cities Service, while other leaders were steady.

Added Arrests In The Murder Of Jean Darlan

Appears That
Assassination
In Conspiracy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 13—(P)—The Christmas eve assassination of Admiral Jean Darlan, the late high commissioner of North Africa, appears to have been the "result of a conspiracy reaching in many directions" and additional "personages of Algiers" have been arrested in the case, a spokesman for Gen. Henri Giraud, the admiral's successor, announced tonight.

A number of those arrested early in the investigation have been released, however, said the spokesman, who replied that he could not forecast the trend of the inquiry when he was asked if a French monarchist group headed by the Count of Paris had figured in the case.

At the same time another announcement of great political importance in the future of North Africa was made by the spokesman, who said Gen. Giraud will meet Gen. Charles De Gaulle, the Fighting French leader, in the near future in an effort to reach a working agreement for the two French forces.

The official spokesman, who addressed a press conference after the city of Algiers had settled for two days with rumors of the arrest of many prominent persons in the Darlan murder, stressed throughout that the investigation was being made by the military authorities and was proceeding "without consideration of the prominence of the persons involved, nor their political beliefs."

Trial By Military Tribunal
The murder of Darlan possibly was political, but the investigation and trial will be conducted merely as that of a criminal for a crime needing punishment," he said.

Those who now have been arrested will be tried by a military tribunal composed of five judges, the spokesman said.

He made it clear that the new personages arrested were in addition to the 12 whom Giraud announced on New Year's eve had been seized in a plot to kill himself and Robert Murphy, President Roosevelt's personal minister in North Africa. Gen. Giraud at the time said some of the 12 were personal friends and others had aided the allied landing last November and participated in a secret rendezvous with U. S. Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark.

The spokesman said in some cases the questioning of the 12 had led to new arrests.

Try To Evade Politics
(A Reuters dispatch from Algiers reported that the new arrests were carried out on the orders of Gen. Jean Marie Bergeter, Giraud's deputy and former air ministry at Vichy.)

The spokesman, putting additional emphasis on the point that the investigation of Darlan's death would not be allowed to become a political matter, pointed out that Darlan was an admiral and hence his assassination would be handled as a "military affair."

A young man described by authorities as a Frenchman whose Italian mother lives in Italy already has paid for the murder with his life, executed as the actual killer.

He was said to have been arrested immediately after firing the shots that killed the admiral, and he was shot the day after Christmas without further details of the affair ever having been disclosed, either as to his name or motive.

Just A Minute, Governor

SALEM, Ore.—Oregon was to inaugurate a new governor yesterday, but just didn't get around to it.

After announcing the new arrests, the spokesman said "many telegrams have been exchanged between Gen. Giraud and Gen. De Gaulle with a view to reaching an agreement," and he announced their forthcoming meeting.

He said Gen. De Gaulle "wanted to arrange a meeting early in January, but this has been impossible because Gen. Giraud has been on a tour of the provinces."

"New telegrams have now been exchanged and although I don't know exactly when the meeting will occur, it will be soon."

Propose Deep Slash In Direct Relief Funds

Is Pointed Out
Jobs Numerous—
Living Costs Up

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 13—(P)—The House appropriations committee slashed a proposed allotment for direct relief today after Rep. Morris Osborn (D), Shelby county, pointed out the war's job boom had cut relief rolls in half in the last two years.

The committee approved $900,000 for the first six months of this year—A reduction of $600,000 from the $1,500,000 originally proposed.

The $1,500,000 would have provided about the same spending rate as last biennium, which started with 40,000 families on relief rolls. Parke M. Banta, Social Security administrator, said the rolls were down now to about 20,000, but pointed out the costs of living were 20 per cent higher and that relief grants had always been inadequate.

"But if we give half as much money for half as many families and then add 20 per cent for the increased cost of living they'll be getting as much relatively as before," Osborn argued, and he successfully sponsored the $600,000 cut on that basis.

The committee approved without change the other temporary Social Security appropriations, including $6,100,000 for old age pensions. Banta said commission estimates indicated that would fall about $500,000 short of maintaining the current average of pension payments through June, but did not insist on raising the amount.

The committee also passed out for floor action five other temporary appropriation bills without change. They are designed to carry state agencies until regular appropriation amounts can be agreed upon.

Manpower Problem

YOUNGSTOWN, O. — The response to an advertisement for track laborers—men or women—gave Baltimore & Ohio railroad officials here something of a jolt.

Seventy-five women and only 10 men applied. The men and seven of the women were put to work immediately.

Railroad officials said 40 or 50 more women were ordered to report later this week.

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it
every time

Those in the Navy's W. A. V. E. S. do a double service. In serving on their own, they also release a trained man for war duty. In its own way, you've found that ice-cold Coca-Cola does a double service, too. It quenches thirst, yes. But it does more. It brings an after-sense of complete refreshment.

A drink has to be good to be the best-liked soft drink on earth. Coca-Cola started out being good and keeps on being good. Choicest ingredients and the finished art of 57 years of "know-how" set Coca-Cola apart in quality.

Only The Coca-Cola Company makes Coca-Cola.

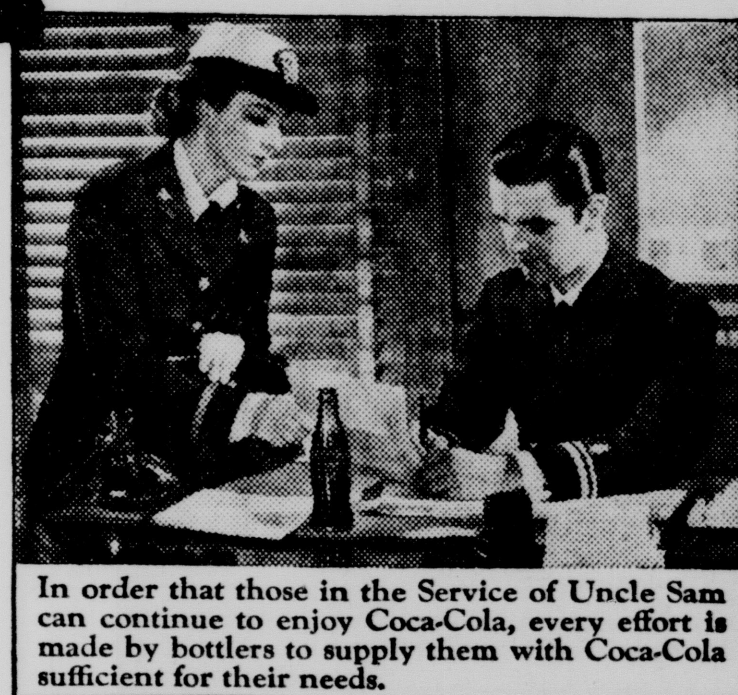

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing...the real thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community."

The best is always the better buy!

Community News From Houstonia

Mrs. Bennie Martin

Mrs. Agnes Eads, teacher in Holden school, and her daughter, Mrs. Carol Norfleet, and Mr. Norfleet, and Mr. and Mrs. Muri R. Greene and daughter, Marian, of Blue Springs, spent Sunday with relatives and friends here.

The Houstonia Women's Federated club held a meeting the afternoon of New Year's Day at the home of Mrs. L. P. Welborn. After pledging allegiance to the flag, the members listened to the president read a letter about the work for crippled children and Alcoa Farms. The club agreed to send a contribution to each. The Social Committee, with Mrs. Harry Yeager, leader, gave an interesting Christmas program at which an exchange of gifts was featured. The meeting closed with the mizpah, after which refreshments were served.

All's Quiet At Racing Parks In Florida

Hialeah Didn't Open And Tropical Didn't Finish The Season

By E. V. W. JONES
MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 13.—(P)—The gay throng, celebrities and the cheering were missing today—the day Hialeah Park was scheduled to inaugurate its glittering 46 days of mid-winter racing and set the Miami season in full swing.

Hialeah didn't open, nor did Tropical Park see any racing in the last week of its fall season slated to close yesterday. The ban on pleasure driving served effectively to black out horse racing here.

From Track To Night Clubs

A year ago a fashionable crowd of 16,533 fans celebrated Hialeah's opening by wagering $454,740. From the race track they made rounds of night clubs and bright spots. Many reached their hotels as the dawn broke, slept through the day and made ready for another night.

Now the best dressed people wear khaki or navy blue. War factories hum through the night, as places of entertainment once did. The bright lights have been snapped off under dimout regulations, and a majority of the luxurious hotels have been stripped of their trappings and made into barracks for soldiers and sailors.

Expensive cars with out-of-state tags, commonplace a year ago, are a curiosity this year. Traffic in general has dwindled to a trickle of private cars and a bigger proportion of buses, taxicabs and military vehicles. Miami is slow in taking to bicycles.

Dog Tracks Also Close

The dimout of resort activities has left two dog tracks and the Jai-Alai Fronton operating. Two other dog tracks have closed. Only one third of the night clubs found in the area a year ago are open now. Bars and juke joints on the other hand, have increased and are doing a land office business in beer, sandwiches and canned music. Daytime streets are crowded and few merchants complain of lack of trade.

There is a midnight curfew on drinking places. A year ago the big names of golf, tennis and professional swimming were providing reams of newspaper copy with activities here. Not so today. Most of them are in the services.

Instead of tourists there are fighting men; instead of tournaments there are boat launchings; instead of bright lights there is a strict dimout. Miami, at the height of its 1943 winter season, is a phenomenon no one ever expected to see—a playground gone serious.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 13.—(P)—W. H. (Bill) Britton, end coach at the University of Tennessee and member of the school's coaching staff 17 years, has been ordered to report to the Officers' Training School at Miami, Fla., for duty for the duration of the war.

• Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(P)—Almost every time you pick up a newspaper these days, you see that a "Golden Gloves" or similar amateur boxing tournament is getting under way—and a good idea, too... according to Dan Ferris, amateur boxing has been hit harder than any other A.A.U. sport because so many fighters have gone into the armed forces... But at the same time there's nothing soldiers and sailors seem to like quite as much as a good scrap, amateur, professional or just for fun... These newspaper-sponsored tournaments are going a long way toward bridging that gap... their sub-novice classes give kids who never did any formal fighting a chance to do their stuff in the ring without the fear of betting their blocks knocked off by more experienced battlers... and soldiers who have been learning to handle their mitts in the army can test their skill in outside competition—and don't think they're not looking for it.

In Tune With The Times

The Raleigh (N.C.) Times has come up with a 1943 variation of its Golden Gloves tourney, cancelled because of the war, which sounds like the best idea yet... The paper plans to run a service men's tourney January 29-30, giving war bonds as prizes... Except for pros among the first 20 in the N.B.A. rankings, it's a come-all affair and entries all camp have been received from Randy Davis, coached by Johnny Risko, Fort Bragg and the New River Marines, where Al Ettore is helping to train the fisticuffs.

Today's Guest Star

John McGill, Jr., Ashland (Ky.) Independent: "Major league teams are considering colleges for spring training purposes. Maybe their managers aren't so dumb after all. Some of those teams could do with a little college spirit."

One-Minute Sports Page

The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association is in quite a state of confusion because the New England association decided that its vote at Saturday's meeting will be against holding national championships while Longwood, one of the strongest New England clubs, has four years to go on a contract to conduct the national doubles... Navy Lieut. Dyke Baese, whose West Virginia basketball team won the New York invitation tourney last spring, says the material this year is 50 per cent better than he had. Seven of the first nine players are sophs who performed together at Greenbrier Military academy... The University of Pennsylvania track club is planning an indoor meet February 12 to fill the date of the defunct Penn A. C. meet. If held, it will be for the benefit of the community chest.

Making Tracks

After the south had licked the north's picked footballers in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., Bill Baumgartner, Minnesota end, remarked: "I wish we'd had a little mud out there today..." "Mud?" a southern supporter questioned. "Monk Gafford and Blondy Black can go pretty well in mud..." "I know," replied Baumgartner sadly, "but then they'd have left tracks so we could see where they went."

Service Dept.

Ace Parker, former Duke and Dodger footballer who joined the navy as a chief specialist, has just been commissioned an ensign in the naval reserve... and Nick Lukats, the old Notre Dame gridder, has advanced from the same rating to lieutenant (J.G.)... Sergeants Izzy Weinstock and Dave Di Filippo, who were right good football players at Pitt and Villanova, respectively, are in the same outfit at Kessler Field, Miss... Major General Philip H. Torrey, commanding general at the Quantico marine base, once was a star baseball pitcher at Lehigh... No wonder the marines are always in there pitching.

Highest accidental death rate in 1939 was that of Nevada, with 203.1 such deaths per 100,000 of its population.

Cards Pay A $2-A-Share '42 Dividend

Farm System Loses Money But Cardinals Pull Over The Hump

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13.—(P)—The Cardinals' farm system has bit the hand which fed it folding money and reared it from a pup... Only the fact the Cards enjoyed a fine financial season themselves—what with winning the National League pennant and the world series—kept President Sam Breadon from reporting red ink for the entire system.

As it happened, an excellent home year allowed the Cardinals to pass out one dividend—$2 a share—but it didn't compare favorably with 1941 when the Redbirds finished second after months of disastrous injuries. When the chips were counted in the fall of '41, stockholders received two dividends of $5 a share each.

The secret of the 1942 slump of course, is no secret because it reached the sports pages from coast to coast during the playing season, a little at a time.

Sacramento Draws 135

Sacramento, a club battling for the top, was doing well until night games were banned on the Pacific coast. That was the monetary haymaker. One game drew only 135 fans.

Houston had one of its bad years in the Texas League and Rochester in the International League was a financial flop.

Only Columbus of the American Association—among the larger farm clubs which the parent organization relied upon to be self-sustaining—came out in the black.

As usual all the other, smaller farm clubs—New Orleans in the Southern Association; Springfield, Mo., in the Western Association; Decatur, Ill., in the Three-Eye League; Albany, Ga., in the Georgia-Florida League, and Pocatello, Idaho, in the Pioneer League—also operated at losses.

So among his other war-time baseball worries, Breadon now has this headache:

"Is it better to have loaned and lost than never to have loaned at all?"

Republican Group For Pay-As-You Go

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(P)—A group of Missouri Republicans in the house have endorsed unanimously a pay-as-you-go plan for individual income taxes.

As spokesman for the group, Rep. Walter Ploeser explained that the Missourians believed the Carlson resolution, which he said was in most respects the so-called Ruml plan, would permit current collections from current incomes, paying 1943 taxes on 1943 incomes with 1942 as a yardstick.

U. S. Convoys' 'First Enemy' Is The U-Boat

More Than 100 Nazi Subs Were In The Atlantic

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(P)—The German navy, it was learned on high authority today, is turning out submarines faster than the sea and air forces of the United Nations can destroy them. This despite the heavy bombing of German factories from British and American bases in England.

At the same time, the United Nations are building cargo and transport ships faster than they are being sunk. They also are building escort and patrol vessels—destroyers, corvettes and subchasers—at about top speed.

The number of enemy submarines operating in the Atlantic at any one time is more than 100, which represents possibly from one-third to one-fourth of their actual strength. The rest of their undersea craft are either operating in other waters or are at home for repairs and crew relief.

These were described by qualified authorities, who cannot be identified by name, as being among the reasons why the U-boat is considered by the navy to be, in the words of Admiral Harold R. Stark, its "first enemy." They are reasons, too, why United Nations shipping losses still are, in Stark's opinion, "something to be mighty uncomfortable about."

Other naval authorities are known to take an equally serious view of the situation. It is considered much better now than it was at the height of submarine operations in American waters last summer, yet it is still so grave that many thousands of tons of war materials dispatched to overseas war zones find their way instead to the bottom of the ocean.

The U-boats became a real headache for the American high command just a year ago this week when they began sinking ships off the American east coast. As their naval strength increased, the allies have been slowly winning the battle of the supply lines—but, it is said, so slowly that the sub remains the "first enemy."

Restricted Information Much of what is officially known about U-boat operations and our own anti-submarine warfare is restricted information—for instance, the amount of shipping tonnage which the allied nations are now losing each month and the number of enemy submarines which allied craft are sinking.

So far as operations are concerned the Germans seem to have encountered no insuperable obstacles in organizing U-boat crews. A task that became increasingly difficult in the last war.

Bombing raids on submarine bases along the German and French coasts are not too successful.

Geographic Twins

Almost exactly alike in population and area, Tunisia and Louisiana are both in the same longitude, crossed by the 32nd meridian. Tunisia, however, is mountainous in the north and barren where the Sahara touches it, while Louisiana is flat and fertile, cut by the Mississippi.

The Germans house their subs in concrete shelters with walls and roofs said to be 15 feet or more thick and the destructive force of explosives simply does not penetrate to the ships.

U. S. Is Losing Meanwhile the United Nations are losing many valuable cargoes and the lives of many heroic merchant seamen and members of gun crews on merchant ships. These armed merchant ships have given a good account of themselves in many battles with subs, but frequently they are attacked so swiftly they have no chance to defend themselves.

Because of these losses the full power of America's armed might, as measured at portside or factory door, obviously cannot be delivered to the battlefronts. That means in turn that every plan for offensive action in Europe, Asia or the Pacific must take into account not only our production but also our delivery losses.

A combination of surface patrols, army and navy bombers and navy blimps, all operating under the navy's Eastern Sea Frontier Command, made life miserable for submarines off the Atlantic coast last summer, and the adoption of rigid convoy methods at sea and dimouts ashore gave direct aid and protection to merchantmen plying coastal waters.

As a result the U-boats virtually abandoned hunting in those coastal waters and swarmed into the Gulf and the Caribbean where they were later driven out except for occasional raids. Then they took up stations off the northern coast of South America and have since spread throughout the South Atlantic. Recently they have concentrated on the supply lines to North Africa.

Naval men say the only solution is constantly heavier protection for convoys.

Seven Killed In Sicily Raid

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts) Jan. 13.—(P)—The Italian high command said today that Agrigento, on the southern coast of Sicily, was bombed yesterday and seven persons were killed.

The raid was made by daylight. The high command announced the loss of two torpedo boats "as a result of enemy action." Details were not given.

From the Libyan coastal front the high command reported reconnaissance activity by ground patrols and said an advanced allied air base was bombed and machinegunned with damage to planes and armored vehicles.

"In encounters of the last few days in the Fezzan region, the enemy suffered considerable losses," the war bulletin added. It said that in this operation in the desert south of Tripoli "we took about 50 prisoners, including two officers."

(A Fighting French announcement yesterday said the French desert column moving north from the Lake Chad country had wrested Fezzan from the axis, capturing the Fezzan capital and the Oasis of Sebha, 100 miles farther north and within 300 miles of Tripoli.)

"In Tunisia," the communique said, "during fighting which is still in progress, 14 tanks, two armored cars and numerous vehicles were destroyed."

Italian and German planes were said to have attacked allied advanced positions.

"Four planes were brought down by axis planes in duels during the day," the war bulletin said. "Three of our planes did not return."

Nazis Admit Situation Is Serious

No Doubt Now That Germans Plan Retreat

By Glenn Babb

The German command apparently is preparing the German people for the abandonment of a great part of the spoils of last summer's campaign in Russia. Doctor Goebbels' propaganda machine is admitting that the situation in the East is serious; an eminent military authority stresses the Russian advantage in numbers and the fact that this winter's Russian offensive is of greater scope and more concentrated than that of 1941-42. Meanwhile the main outlines of the German strategy are becoming apparent.

There is no longer any serious doubt that a general retreat is under way in the Caucasus. The speed of the Red army's advance up from Mozdok and Nalchik suggests that most of the fighting consists of rearguard actions, to permit a reasonably orderly withdrawal. The Germans may claim with some justification that they are shortening their lines according to plan, but the plan is not that of which Hitler boasted last September when he saw Grozny oil fields almost in his grasp. It has been forced on the Nazi command by the slashing blows of Zhukov's columns further north. Whether all the Caucasus is to be given up will depend largely on the success of the desperate German efforts, into which strong reserves are being thrown, to hold the northern and eastern approaches to Rostov.

America May Be Aiding It will depend also, of course, on the power of the rejuvenated Red army of the Caucasus. Dispatches indicate that the columns which are pouring over the watershed between the Caspian and the Black sea consist largely of fresh troops with new arms and equipment. Now the situation of this army suggests that it may be the first considerable Russian force to profit in a big way from American lend-lease aid. Its natural avenues of supply run through the Caspian sea, and the Caspian is the terminus of the longest major military supply route in history, that from the United States, around the tip of Africa, through the Indian ocean and Iran. It would not be surprising to learn that United States tanks are rumbling with the Kuban Cossacks as they ride triumphantly back into their homeland or that American planes are being used for such raids at that yesterday on a German air base near Krasnodar.

German Resistance Stiffens There is no denying that German resistance is stiffening in the sectors where the threat to Rostov must be held back if the whole Nazi army in the Caucasus is not to be trapped. Today's Moscow communique records progress only in the Caucasus and along the lower Don and at Stalingrad. For several days now there has been no real advance reported for the columns approaching Rostov from the north or across the Don bend.

The mission of the 22 German divisions—many of them reduced to tattered remnants—enclosed on the western approaches to Stalingrad becomes clearer. As long as they hold out—and the effort to relieve them seems to have been abandoned—the Russian command is seriously handicapped in the gigantic task of moving men and supplies for the multi-pronged drive on Rostov. Stalingrad is the nerve center of South Russia's communications and until those 22 divisions are wiped out the value of at least three vital trunk lines is gravely impaired.

Major Effort Underway The heavy fighting reported by today's Moscow communique in which the Russians broke through in the factory district to the western limits of Stalingrad suggests that a major effort to remove this obstacle may be under way. The character of the siege of Stalingrad, now 141 days old, has been reversed completely. The Germans there doubtless have orders similar to the "die but do not surrender" command under which the Russians fought in Stalingrad through the late summer and autumn. It remains to be seen whether they can approach the Russian achievement in last stand battle.

Post Office Employees Elect New Officers

The Post Office Employees' association met January 12 at the Knights of Columbus hall. During a brief business session, election of officers resulted as follows: president, C. D. Byler; vice-president, Everett Kemp; secretary, Norton Heffernan; treasurer, Virgil Wigton; and sergeant-at-arms, E. E. Hammond. Members voted to retain membership in the Chamber of Commerce, and elected C. D. Byler to represent them for the coming year. After dancing and card playing, refreshments were served.

Government Pays More To Schools

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(P)—The state government is paying more and more of the cost of operating Missouri's public school system, the governmental research institute said in a study of the operations of the 1931 school law.

Payments by the state to school districts in 1940 were $15,830,075 and only $5,473,019 in 1931.

The private fact-finding organization said 55 counties received more than half their funds from the state two years ago.

The institute's report said the 1931 school law had failed to encourage consolidation of rural school districts. In 1940, after nine years, Missouri had 4,451 districts with less than 20 pupils each.

Kissing is less prevalent than nose-rubbing as a sign of greeting among human beings.

May Stop On Their Way Home

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(P)—Easterners may stop for a social call or any other purpose if it's on their home-to-work driving route without violating the ban on "pleasure driving" of automobiles, officials of the office of price administration said today.

They explained they were interested only in saving gasoline in the 17-state storage area, and did not intend otherwise to interfere with personal activities.

Besides driving to and from work, other authorized driving—on the route of which other stops may be made is desired—include:

To church services, weddings, funerals, essential shopping, nearby restaurants (to eat, but not for entertainment purposes), meeting of Red Cross or Civilian Defense or other public welfare organizations, to the doctor or hospital for medical attention, to the drug store for medical supplies, to inspect an apartment or house which the driver really hopes to rent or buy, to make other trips necessary to protect valuable property. In addition, servicemen on furlough may make social calls by automobile.
